

JOSEPHINE BUTLER COLLEGE

26th February, 2014 – Butler Charities Committee

Attended by: Caroline Butler, Siri Minsaas, Karolina Fidrych, Ben White, Heather Dickinson, Rupert Maspero, Lexie Taylor, Sam Stradling, Will Macauley, Jonny Harrison, Hannah Gowland, Vicky Ribbons, Hattie Pridmore, Sabrina Chong, Catherine Kisanji, Calum Masters

Charity Auction:

- Oliver Quarry's mum has donated a lot of things for the auction, including a tour through Newcastle FC grounds (worth £30), a watch with Swarovski crystals, a meal at Oldfields, a tasting box of beer (valued at £35) and a bracelet.
- Karolina has been round local businesses, and says that there is potential for several donations if we email them immediately. She has vouchers for the Bodyshop for a skin consultation and a makeover. Stormfront also says they'd be willing to give something if we contact them.
- Rupert suggested the Gala for cinema tickets.
- Pam has donated a bottle of whisky and the Market has donated a £25 voucher
- The poster for the event has been made, and Caroline suggests getting leaflets made that we can send out to people and put on the tables.
- Action Point: Caroline to contact History Society and Archaeology Society.
- Karolina suggests that we can advertise through DUCK.
- Jasper has added a Google docs page to the Charity Comm Facebook group so that people can add donations that they manage to collect.

Fashion Show:

- Siri has passed on the Exec promises from the Grace House Auction.
- The Fashion Show chairs do not want too many participants in the promises auction because they want to keep the auction short.

DUCK Trip:

- This event will be a Palatinalps-style trip with DUCK. It's a post-exams weekend trip to Amsterdam. It costs £80 for the accommodation, which includes your donation to charity.
- You can hitchhike your way there, and pay £90 to get back.

Pancake Night:

- This forthcoming Tuesday we've got a pancake night with Green Comm., which people could pay to come along to. The pancake toppings would be Fairtrade. This will be taking place at 6pm in Mf3.