LIFE OFF THE HILL

MOVING IN

Moving into a new house is often quite stressful, but with a little common sense and a few hints on what to watch out for, you can spend more time focusing on making your new house look and feel more homely, and less on worrying about the little things which could ruin the experience later on. Here's a few things to look out for...

- Make sure you are given keys to all the doors in your property, and that you have enough sets for everyone.
- Check the house is in the standard you expect it to be. If the landlord has said they will get it cleaned since you last saw it, have they?
- Take meter readings for Gas, Electric and Water (where applicable) as soon as the first person gets into the property. It is important you tell your providers this reading so that you don't end up paying for the previous tenants' usage.
- Check the contents of your house against the itinerary. If you haven't been given an itinerary, your landlord should be more than happy to give you one. It is important that any differences between the itinerary and what's in your property are sorted quickly, in order to avoid any hassle when trying to get your deposit back at the end of the year.
- Check your house for damages straight away. Any damages you do find, photograph them and send them to your landlord. Again this is to stop you from getting the blame at the end of the year and losing your deposit.
- Check that you know how your fire alarms work. When you burn your toast at 3a.m you need to know how not to cause panic.
- Make sure all locks work and that you know any alarm codes. Students can sometimes be targets so it is important that you are as secure as possible. If you haven't already, think about taking out possessions insurance.
- Buy a TV Licence.
- Meet your neighbours. A good rapport from the beginning will make communications easier if either of you have problems. Remember to be considerate and keep noise to a minimum; not everyone in Durham is a student!
