Alex: A day in the life of a Chemistry student

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
Morning	Morning of lectures, get used to being up for those 9ams as a chemist!	Lie in till 10!! Then go down to the science site for lectures.	Only 1 lecture this morning, then head to town to buy the essentials.	Morning of lectures with a slightly heavy head...Oh well, you're only a fresher once!	Another morning of lectures but who cares 'cos it's Friday.	LIE IN!!	Up early for a netball match down at Maiden Castle.
Afternoon	Take packed lunch and eat in the chem café. Then head to problem class to go through this week's questions.	Afternoon lab session – making fun coloured compounds and rocking the white lab coat look.	Netball at 1pm on the MUGA - have a laugh with the team and get some exercise.	More lectures with the odd hour off spent procrastinating with the course mates.	Second lab session of the week – time to play with more chemicals (safely obviously)	1pm Netball training before the game tomorrow then go to the bar for one of the awesome paninis.	Do boring stuff like laundry or any washing up that hasn't been done. Or maybe have a nap.
Evening	Do pre-labs for later in the week then relax with the flat or head to the bar for a game of pool	Cook with the flat mates and catch up with Netflix / iPlayer	Copy up lecture notes and do the set questions for the week.	Head to Mentor night to catch up with the mentor and claim the free food!!	Head to the bar to watch Butler live – great night of live music from Butler's awesome musicians	Socialise in the kitchen and relax over a cuppa. Then give the parents a ring so they know I'm still alive	Do post lab report and all other work that I haven't yet done. Then head to the JCR meeting to see what's going on in college.
Night	Butler Formal! 3 courses and half a bottle of wine every fortnight. Then off out to town after the ents.	Cram everyone into a Butler Room and have a film night / gossip session.	Pre-drinks in someone's flat then head to Lloyd's/ Loveshack / Fishtank wherever the night takes us.	Go to the JCR lounge to watch a Disney film with Disney soc.	Klute time! Dance to cheesy tunes and have a quaddie or two, careful – they're lethal	Head out on a college bar crawl to find the best bar. Castle has a nice one but Butler's is better obviously!!	More Netflix or bad tv then grab and early night to be up for tomorrow's 9am.

Calum: A day in the life of a Politics student

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
Morning	11-12 – International Security Tutorial 12-1 – DPS Tutorial (Both fortnightly)	Sleep in! Possibly do some reading if I manage to wake up early enough!
